68 year old William Lebepe and his wife could not hold their excitement when Human Settlements Minister, Nomaindia Mfeketo and CoGHSTA MEC , Jerry Ndou paid them a visit to officially cut the ribbon to their newly built house.

The event, that took place in Polokwane Extension 78 on the 12th of April 2019 also served as an official launch of the new housing plan that will be built for beneficiaries from now henceforth.

Addressing the residents of Extension 78, Minister Mfeketo said the government enshrines proper housing in the Constitution as a basic human right.

“The provision of free human settlements to citizens is an indication that we are indeed a caring government. We plan to build 500 000 units with the assistance of private partners.” she said.

The Human Settlements Minister further urged residents to address service delivery challenges with Ward Councillors and the municipality instead of taking matters in their own hands.

MEC Ndou shared the same sentiments as the Minister that indeed government is cares. He further expressed and appreciated the Minister for giving local government the necessary resources and support to build beautiful houses.

William Lepebe expressed his gratitude to the Minister and MEC Ndou for officially handing over the house to him.“I feel honoured and special that the Minister, MEC and my fellow ward 08 residents are here to witness the great work that our government is doing,” he said joyfully.
